

A Whale In Space

by Nadia

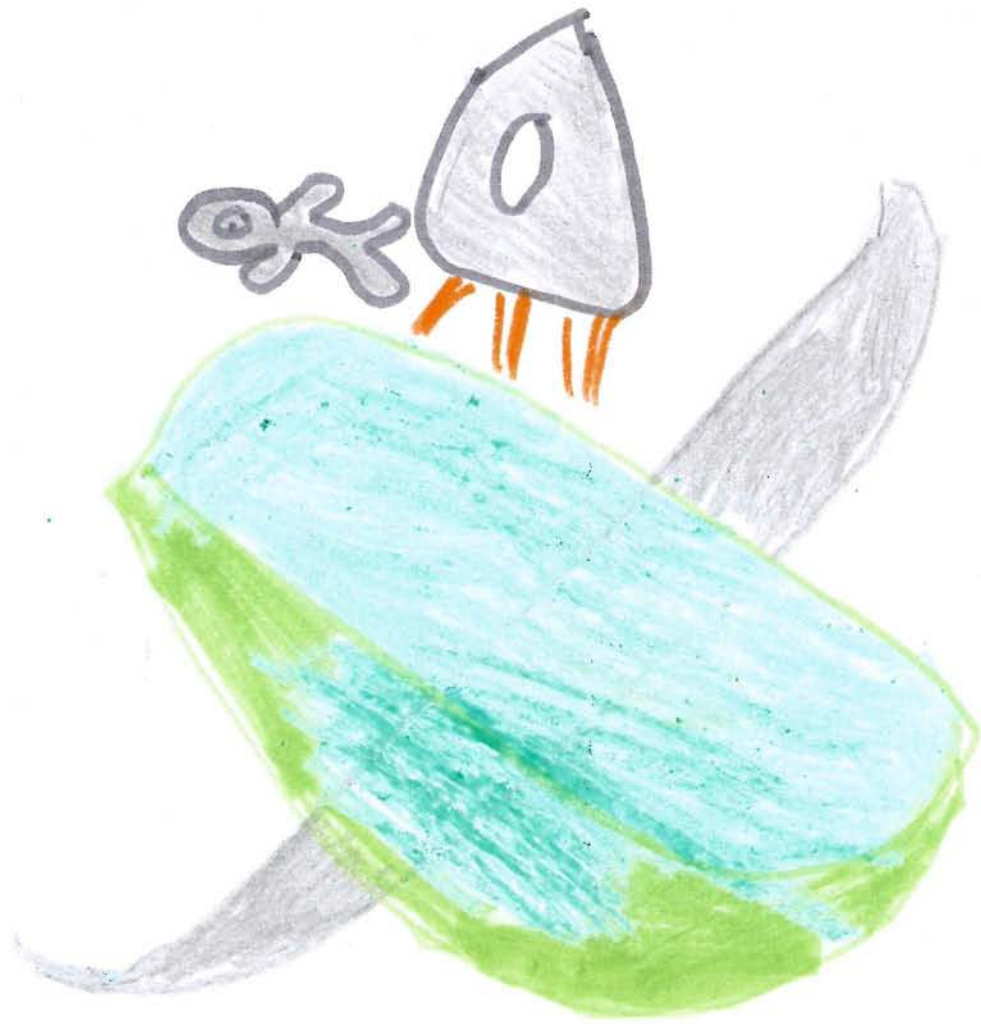

Once upon a time there was a sperm whale named Bob that liked going in a space shuttle. Bob went to space by himself.

When Bob got to Saturn he landed on the planet Saturn. Bob got off and jumped on the rings. On the rings Bob counted the rings and there were 10,000 rings and he wrote what he learned in his journal.

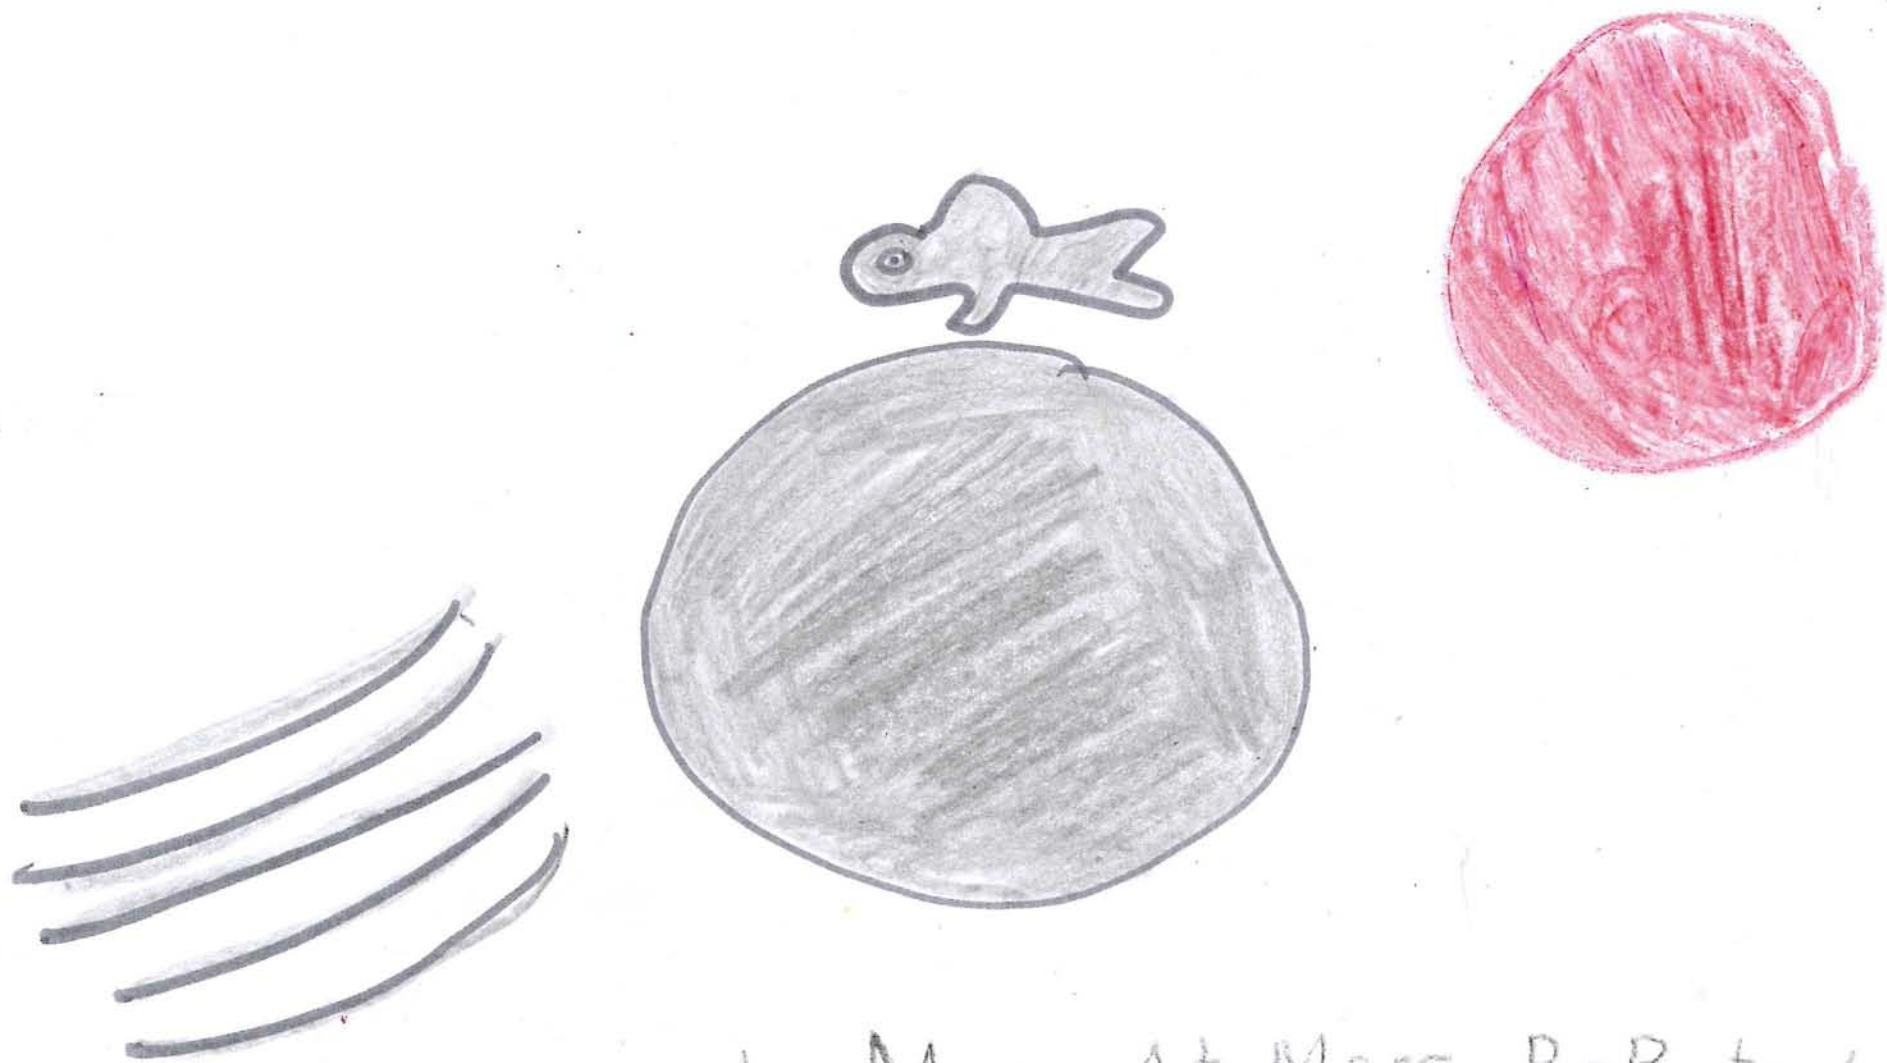

After that he went back to his shuttle and set off to Uranus. At Uranus Bob thought Uranus wasn't a planet. He looked in his book and found out that Uranus was a planet.

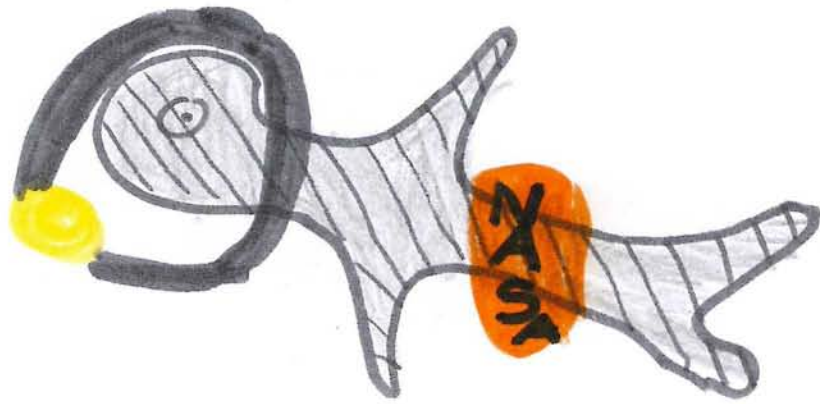

Bob got out of his shuttle and studied Uranus and wrote the things he learned in his journal.
He ran out of air so he hurried back inside his shuttle and got more air

So Bob traveled to Jupiter but before he got there he bumped into a comet and the shuttle broke.

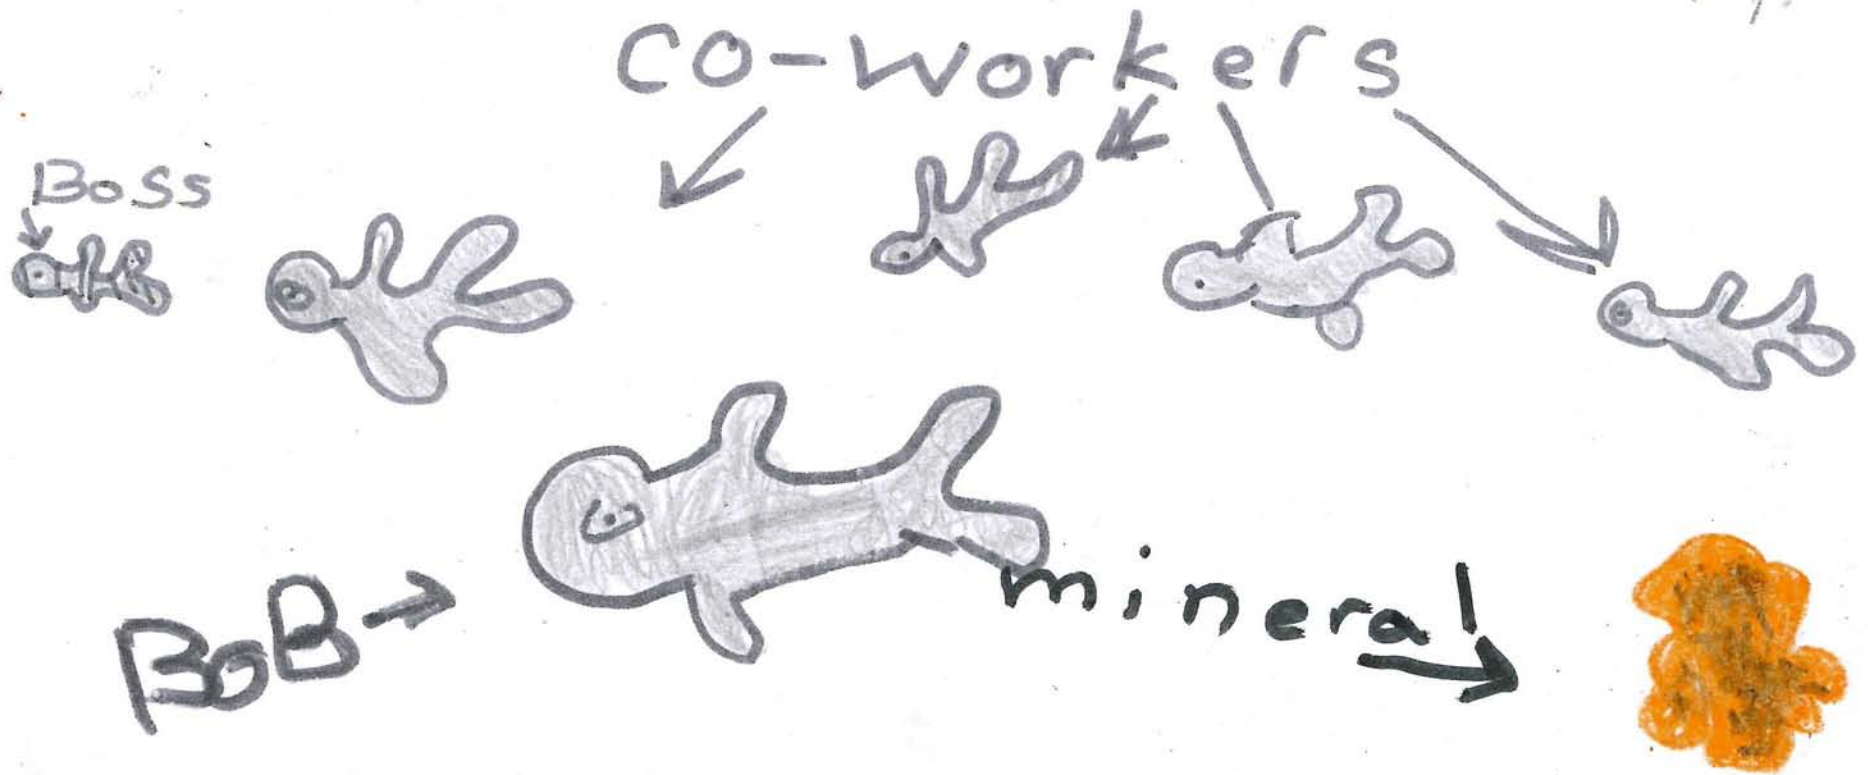

The comet took him to Mars. At Mars BoB took a piece of rock and put it in his sample bag. But he saw a alien and said my name is BoB what's your name. The alien answered my name is Dick. So they became friends. Then it was time to go but BoB didn't have a shuttle so he bought one out of rocks.

Bob got to earth safely. Bob showed the lab what he found. Bob got a gold medal for his success.

But the samples were missing. What samples asked the Boss? The samples I got from Mars, so Bob checked his suit pocket and there it was. A sample from Mars Bob and the people at the lab didn't know what it was but the Boss knew it was a shiny mineral. Also Bob showed the Boss his journal. The people at the lab were very happy.
